NEW THINK MACHINE SMART BUT MORONIC

CAMBRIDGE, England, June 17.—(AP)—Scientists at Cambridge University are about to unveil a thinking machine with a "brain" which weighs a ton. It can do 15,000 arithmetic problems a minute—but it's a moron.

M. V. Wilkes, one of the mathematicians who developed the huge gadget, says: "If you tell the machine to do something silly it goes on doing it. I liken it to a calculating machine operated by a moron who can not think but can be trusted to do what he is told."

Engineer Dept. Blamed For Paving Plan Stall

Edmonton's experimental flexible paving program was delayed because Dr. P. M. Hardy has only today received information he required from the city engineer's department.

City officials had said the plan to experimentally pave 22 blocks of residential street with flexible plant asphalt as proposed by Dr. Hardy has been held up because no specifications for the work have as yet been submitted by the latter.

TARDY INFORMATION

In a statement released today by Edmonton Chamber of Commerce, Dr. Hardy, the university dean says he has been awaiting survey information needed from city engineer's department.

Dr. Hardy said he has only today received necessary information concerning location of the road on Saskatchewan Drive between 110 and 112 street.

He said he expects to be able to submit specifications to the city early next week.

Dean Hardy also pointed out that he was first requested on April 7 last to make the necessary soil survey and prepare a specification for two blocks only.

Later, in a letter dated April 26 from City Commissioner D. B. Miles, Dr. Hardy was requested to include an additional 22 blocks in the program, his statement to the chamber of commerce reveals. Chamber of Commerce, which has been the Hardy plan for paving residential streets with black top over gravel instead of the customary concrete base, has since requested city council to double the experimental program, making 48 blocks in all.

Dr. Hardy prepared a special report that was sent city commissioners last week by way of the Chamber of Commerce.

15 Groups Serve Notice on Firms

MONTREAL, June 17.—(BUP)—Spokesmen for 15 international unions representing some 100,000 Canadian railwaymen said today they had served notice on all railways demanding a five-day, 40-hour week and a wage increase.

Announcement of the demands, forecast here last month, was made by Frank Hall, vice-president of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, and chairman of a joint union negotiating committee.

WANT SAME PAY
He said that under the proposals, the railwaymen wanted to work 40 hours but collect the same take-home pay they now get for 48.

The unions asked that the new work hours become effective September 1.

The unions had asked that their members have two consecutive days off duty each week, Hall said in a prepared statement, but if they worked on those days should be paid no less than time and a half.

He said the wage boost demanded was seven cents an hour, effective July 1, one month from today.

UNIONS CONCERNED
Unions concerned in the demand were: Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, Brotherhood of Railway Carmen, Brotherhood of Railway Signalmen, Brotherhood of Railway Telegraphers, Brotherhood of Railway Maintenance of Way Employees, Brotherhood of Railway Station Employees, Brotherhood of Railway Telegraphers, Brotherhood of Railway Maintenance of Way Employees, Brotherhood of Railway Station Employees.

Oil Potential Expansion Means More Facilities

Officers of Standard Oil of New Jersey from New York.

The party made a tour of the refinery at Edmonton, Alberta, and is expected to leave for Calgary to weekend at Banff.

Standard Oil is planning to increase Alberta oil output. Mr. Hewitson said the company is considering increasing the size of its Edmonton-Regina pipeline to 36-inch diameter. A 36-inch pipeline was previously planned.

GREAT CAPACITY
The 24-inch line would have a capacity of 100,000 to 125,000 barrels daily as compared to 100,000 barrels daily for the 16-inch line.

Sixteen-inch line has already been ordered, Mr. Hewitson said, and this could be used on the leg from Regina to the Great Lakes.

It is hoped to have the pipeline to be completed by late 1950 if possible or early in 1951. Its completion will depend on the availability of steel and the arrangements for financing both of which have yet to be arranged.

Pastor Turns Other Cheek—Nose Broken

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 17.—(UP)—Presbyterian pastor who turned the other cheek said today he would file a $10,000 personal injury suit against a Methodist minister who broke his nose in a wedding ceremony quarrel.

The Rev. Ellis J. Hough, 40, of Fairfax, Va., delivered the wedding ceremony.

Hough said the one-punch attack took place at Breasler's home at Fairfax last Sunday.

"He hit me right on the nose," Hough said. "I was most embarrassed and respectable. But I asked him to make a public apology and he refused. So I'm going to sue."

Adhering to his teachings, Hough turned the other cheek, Breasler declined to follow through.

"I don't believe in fighting," Hough said. "I'm glad I didn't strike him."

While Breasler was throwing his Sunday punch, the bride and groom were waiting at the altar.

It was a difference in opinion between the couple that started the painful argument.

James Richard Schoenmann of The Rev. Mr. wanted Hough, a former neighbor, to perform the ceremony.

Hough thought he could patch up the pre-nuptial differences by offering to marry the couple in Breasler's church. He wrote the minister a letter asking such permission.

"I refused a rather bitter reply," Hough said. "I told him at all. But he suggested that when I arrived in Fairfax that I come to his house and see him."

"I did and the argument followed. He wanted his letter back. I refused to give it to him."

"As I was putting it back into his hands, he hit me with his fist. He took me by surprise and I was staggered."

The impact of Breasler's blow jarred Hough's glasses from his nose and broke them, the Presbyterian said.

Free Gold Mart Still Rejected

Abbott Says World Markets Can't Absorb All of Output

By Canadian Press Staff Writer
Finance Minister Abbott says he's still against allowing mines to sell their gold on the so-called free world market.

He told a political rally in Montreal last night that Progressive Conservative proposals for establishment of a free gold market are impracticable. The free market could not absorb all of Canada's output and the world would be faced with the problem of disposing of the remainder.

At the federal election campaign moved toward the June 27 vote, 10 days away, party leaders continued their drive for ballots in widely-separated sections of the country.

Prime Minister St. Laurent moved to the Quebec countryside, at Valleyfield, where George Drew, leader of the opposition, was expected to arrive. St. Laurent said the Liberal party wants to "eliminate distribution of Canada's bounty to all the people and not exclusively to any one class or group." Canada's prosperity comes not from "a policy of protection" but from "a policy of competition."

Another dry day is forecast for the central and Edmonton districts today. Higher temperatures, with no rainfall, are predicted for tomorrow.

FAR BELOW NORMAL

Only 1.61 inches of rain has fallen in the Edmonton district since the first of April this year, says today.

Crop prospects for the extreme south of Alberta brightened today with 34 inches of rain in the Lethbridge district over the past 24 hours. The rainfall extended across the extreme south of Saskatchewan and southern Manitoba, bringing relief to parched crops.

NATIONALIZED BANKS

Mr. Drew again challenged Mr. St. Laurent to repudiate Mr. Smith's reported statement.

DEFENCE MINISTER CLAXTON

In a broadcast address at Montreal, also touched on housing and said the Liberals are ready to solve the low-rent housing problem. They would do that by co-operating with the provincial and municipal governments.

Burke Guilty Of Manslaughter

The support of his sister, widow of the slain man. Jury was out 32 minutes. Justice McRae concluded his charge to the jury at 4:48 p.m. yesterday. Verdict came at 5:40.

Murder charges arose out of slaying of Holmes at his east end Edmonton residence following an argument between the 40-year-old painter and Holmes.

Evidence established quartered Burke and Holmes developed. Burke charged with manslaughter. Burke told him about being accepted as a living student.

ARGUMENT FOLLOWED
Burke swore Holmes told him "the only thing he could ever hope to find would be a fish." Argument and subsequent slaying in an upstairs bedroom followed.

Witnesses for the crown included Holmes widow, Frances Holmes, and their three daughters and three sons.

Mr. Holmes and daughter Shirley swore they were in the death room during the fatal slaying. Holmes died shortly after being struck by the knife. Burke's death weapon was a small pen knife.

In his address to the jury at the yesterday afternoon session opened, Frank Dunne, defence counsel, traced the unfortunate chain of events which had dogged Burke's life.

He had contracted infantile paralysis at the age of two, the disease leaving his right leg practically useless. His wife had left him and an adopted child had been born back to the welfare people.

TO OF THE SPINE

Recently, he left hospital after undergoing treatment for Th. of the spine. He had been left in a weak condition and feared greatly that he would have to go back to hospital.

In claiming self defence, Dunne pointed out Burke had tried to avoid trouble with Holmes the night of the slaying and had not used the knife until after he had been struck by Holmes.

"I submit," Mr. Dunne concluded.

W. Z. Shortreed told jury, "If you duty to find him guilty."

Mr. Shortreed suggested Holmes struck Burke in defence when he saw the knife descending on him.

"The knife must have been in Burke's hand when Holmes turned to look at him, and the blow which killed him already launched."

CHARGE TO THE JURY

Mr. Justice McRae's hour and 45 minutes charge to the jury ended at 4:48.

"I find it hard to believe," he told the jury, "that the prisoner ever was under reasonable apprehension of grievous bodily harm."

Defence witnesses established Burke had lived in fear of being struck by Holmes for years.

Mr. Justice McRae found it hard to believe, he said, that defence was available to the prisoner.

But, he pointed out, "if the prisoner intended to attack Holmes it can be presumed he had the opportunity when he came upon the victim in bed."

"There was a complete absence of motive," he said. "That is in the prisoner's favor."

Burke sat white-faced and tense through four days of trial. There was no noticeable sign of relief when drawn face when verdict was announced.

Government Road Program Started

Hard Surfacing of Two Highways Underway

Asphalt surfacing of four highways is now underway in the province.

Highway No. 2 from Red Deer to Wetaukwin is being hard surfaced, and traffic is being detoured over short distances.

Highway No. 16 from Edmonton to the Chipman corner is being hard surfaced, with traffic being accommodated through the town. From the junction of No. 2 highway to Sylvan Lake on Highway No. 11, hard surfacing is proceeding, with traffic being accommodated through the town. Speed of vehicles is limited to 25 miles per hour on the road. No. 2 Highway from Morrisville to Cude corner is being hard-surfaced.

Hard surfacing of No. 3 highway from Winnipeg to Medicine Hat in the southern part of the province is underway. Traffic is being accommodated.

At the Ponoka cutoff on Highway No. 3, a grading crew is at work on revision of the highway, and traffic is using the old highway. Grading crews are also at work on the Fairview to Dunsen Ferry section of No. 2 Highway, where traffic is using the old road, and from Hythe to the B.C. boundary where a similar arrangement is made to handle traffic.

On highway No. 11 from Hobbie to Sanderson, on Highway No. 12 from Lacombe to Alx, and on highway No. 13 between Cinnabar and Strom and Wetaukwin and Camrose, grading and graveling crews are at work but traffic is being accommodated.

Traffic is going through on highway No. 16 from Seba Beach Corner to Styal, on Highway No. 19 from Barriere to Fort Assiniboine, on highway No. 19 from Wetaukwin to Wetaukwin and from Beaker to Smulwell on highway 21, where grading is being done.

Roads between Cold Lake and Beaver Crossing, Viking and Kiam, Gregoire and Blue Ridge and Boyle and Alpen are open although grading and graveling crews are at work.

Grading and graveling in the northern part of the province will be done between Monarch and Champion, High River and Blackfoot, and between Elbow and Pincher and 27, road River, but traffic is being accommodated. Area between the Chateau Corner and the Saskatchewan boundary on highway 14 is closed to traffic as a new road is under construction. Local traffic only is in use. Local traffic only is in use. While in the city the Canadian GM plans to talk hockey with officials of the Edmonton Athletic club, also sponsored by his organization.

Eight now EAC executives are up to their necks in the business of trying to crash the Western Canada Junior Hockey league with an entry. Decision on whether the Clubmen will be accepted into the league is expected late today.

HOPE EAC'S GET IN

"Certainly I'd like to see EAC in the Western Canada Junior league," Selke said.

The visitor from the east also has a date with Frank Currie, Flyers' coach. He admitted that Bud MacPherson, giant Flyer rearguard who played three games with Canadiens last season via the amateur-professional lend-lease agreement, will be invited to training camp, meaning the Montreal camp.

Mr. Selke said Edmontonian Clarence Campbell, league president, is doing a "terrific job" for the National Hockey league.

"I had lunch with him last night before I came away. He sent his regards to his friends out this way."

Packing Plant Brief Blasts Freight Rates

Edmonton is in a position to become the most important meat packing centre in Canada.

But it has been hindered by a railway freight policy that is "inequitable, unfair, out of date, detrimental to Edmonton, to Alberta, and definitely dangerous to the railways."

This view was laid before the Royal Commission on Transportation here today by Gainers Ltd. "We submit it has substantially been railway policy to consider they had a 'monopoly' on traffic to and from Edmonton, and therefore they have charged rates just about as much as the traffic could bear. This policy is breaching and causing loss of an important volume of Alberta livestock through Edmonton for slaughtering elsewhere—Winnipeg, Vancouver, Toronto, Montreal, etc."

REDUCTION ASKED

Carload freight rates on dressed meat, packing house products and by-products from naturally located meat packing centres such as Edmonton, to consuming marketing centres in Canada, United States and overseas, should be reduced to a charge on a par with lower livestock rates the company said.

It also argued:

1. Alberta secondary industry products should be given rates favorable with eastern rates. Freight charges for same mileage should be same all over Canada.

2. Faster train service should be provided for dressed meats.

3. Transport commissioners' powers should be widened to give them powers over special rates which now can be lowered by railways at will.

HIDDEN TAXES

25% of our national income is taken by the governments. Some is in direct taxes; most of it is in HIDDEN TAXES

The HIDDEN TAX is a menace, because it is hidden, and because it is placed on necessities.

The Government STILL is collecting more money than is needed.

We, the Progressive Conservatives, will provide an efficient government; abolish extravagance in Ottawa; cut HIDDEN TAXES; thereby bringing down the cost of living.

For Sex Criminals

The fact that no less than seven moral charges have been laid against defendants in the Edmonton district in less than a month indicates how desperately some special kind of penal treatment is needed for this sort of thing.

All over the country, sex offenders are on the increase.

They are increasing so rapidly that only last month Mr. Justice A. M. Manson of the British Columbia supreme court appealed urgently for more consideration of the new recommendations that have gone to Ottawa demanding the setting up of a separate federal prison and a separate course of treatment for sex offenders.

Police experience in this matter establishes three vital facts:

1. That ordinary custodial care in penal institutions does not eradicate the tendency towards this type of crime but that the offender always repeats on his release.

2. That association of sex criminals with other criminals tends to infect normal persons with the tendency.

3. That sex crime is progressive, that is to say, the sex offender always graduates towards more serious offenses of the type and frequently ends in murder.

This is the experience of police officers all over North America.

Recommendations forwarded to Ottawa from time to time have urged the segregation of sex offenders, use of a psychological treatment, such as have been employed with some success in New York state and the incarceration of such people for an indefinite period until medical officers can assert they have been cured of their tendencies.

Edmonton has a peculiar interest in this matter, not only because of the increase in such crimes here, but because it was women's organizations of Edmonton which were among the first to urge the federal government a rational and effective treatment for such people.

On the Apparel of School Girls

The school trustees in a Winnipeg suburb are in a frothy lather over whether or not skirts should be permitted to wear slacks to school.

One trustee who stated in a public meeting that girls should be allowed to wear slacks, if they wanted to, was howled down by the indignant parents and, it was said, he may have to resign over the incident.

The whole business arose over the dismissal of a teacher who deducted points from the girls who appeared in slacks.

Now we are warmly concerned with female modesty. We are told that boys and girls should be encouraged to attire themselves in seamy fashion and to behave in the same way.

But we are unable to find anything wrong with slacks.

Slacks on girls, we maintain, are not befitting.

But if they are anything at all, they are entirely modest, certainly more modest than the flimsy and revealing slacks.

But the girls are anything at all, they are entirely modest, certainly more modest than the flimsy and revealing slacks.

But the girls are anything at all, they are entirely modest, certainly more modest than the flimsy and revealing slacks.

It isn't true that this made any overnight change in Harvey. Canon at his master's disposal. It did, however, give Harvey a new courage in his outlook. Harvey Canon called the command that "Pal" had always answered at his master's disposal. It did, however, give Harvey a new courage in his outlook. It gave him a new inner satisfaction to call "hell!" and to have the little dog flash back to him from its busy excursion, quivering and looking up at him.

He went "Pal" and Harvey Canon was permitted to each other, each tating the sweet sensation of being loved. In such a pleasant thing I hate to tell the story to its end.

Hard still. The end comes on a bright day of early spring. On this day, with the sun in a premature position, the dog snapped and threw Harvey Canon back again. They together come back again. They together come back again. They together come back again.

Letters to the Editor

there was no salvation outside the Catholic Church.

If the Bible is the only foundation of Faith on what did the Christians up to the time of the invention of printing have to base their Faith—and there was no greater Christians than the first Christians. Was it not on faith based on tradition? It was a council of the Catholic Church which declared which writings were infallible words of God and which were apostrophic. It was the Catholic Church which guarded and preserved the Bible through the ages.

Now, Protestantism and Catholicism both can't be right—ought to arrive at the truth is up to each individual himself by prayer and love and by the grace of God. And I still say there are some Protestants that put the Catholics to shame in this regard. That is why there is a salvation outside the Catholic Church—because the Catholics are people who know what love is, but how much greater that love is when one has the truth.

WALTER J. TAYLOR, 1018 9th street.

Editor, Bulletin—There has been quite a number of bitter denunciations of comic books.

Comedies, we are inclined to agree. Too many "crime" books, for example, illustrate far too poignantly the misadventures of bloody-minded hoodlums and vicious criminals. Although the books may advocate a Crime Does Not Pay policy, nonetheless, they inadvertently play host to the serious repercussions that may ensue.

Youngsters are intensely idealistic. They have their heroes, men of action and high accomplishment. They dream of hazardous exploits and of the triumphs of the brave. All too often they are attracted, as a result of the glamor of the gangster and the hero. In many cases this is because their own goals are relatively bare to them.

Obligingly, these comic books furnish the basic steps of hoodlums and the highly imaginative youngster.

Seasonal Unemployment

Editor, Bulletin—I am dropping a line of inquiry for the first time to your paper, your readers and more particularly to any candidates running in the federal election in the coming election, as to whether any of the political parties have given serious consideration and have any detailed plans as yet of how the seasonal employment of a great number of Canadians can be turned into steady employment?

At present it appears to be generally accepted by most Canadians that Canada must look forward to hundreds of thousands of unemployed during the winter months and that nothing can be done about it. A sorry plight for those that are affected.

Although this does not affect all of us workers directly, it does so indirectly by increasing taxes in order to provide money for public works, which in turn keeps some of us unemployed.

It is admitted that certain public works are needed but it does not seem feasible to me to use public money to keep all of the unemployed away from steady employment, because it would be too heavy a drain on the average worker's pay envelope.

It also affects us indirectly by lowering our wages and working conditions, placing the employers in a better position to compete with the labor union. There are many other effects on the economy of the country.

In certain methods by which these seasonal manufacturing industries could be set up and operated during the winter months, and the dirty work of the summer run by the government as a last resort?

There are some of the opinion that some practical solution could be found to this problem. It is hoped that the way of the future will be found in any or all of the parties' platforms.

HILARIOUS infield combination of Frank Sinatra, Gene Kelly and Jules Munshin makes new MGM musical "Take Me Out to the Ball Game" real fun fest. Esther Williams and Betty Garrett are ladies who score home runs in romance in musical starting today at Capitol theatre.

Baseball Feature Opens at Capitol

Kelly, Sinatra and Williams
Team in Sparkling Attraction

Dancing Gene Kelly and Esther Williams appear together for the first time in "Take Me Out to the Ball Game," sparkling attraction coming to the Capitol Theatre today.

Frank Sinatra also stars in the MGM technicolor musical, with Betty Garrett, Edward Arnold and Jules Munshin in support.

Residing being the star shortstop for the "Walrus," Gene Kelly has theatrical ambitions. Together with the person who has inherited the ball club is going to participate actively in the team's training the players are indignant.

WILLIAMS OWNER
They are even more resentful when the new owner turns out to be young, attractive Esther Williams. Fact that she knows all about baseball and is a good player herself makes Gene dislike her even more, but Frank immediately falls in love with her.

Quite a feud develops between Gene and Esther as the baseball season starts, and the "Walrus" the heavy favorite to win the pennant.

How the feud develops into a tremendous climax with Gene Kelly and Esther Williams at each other's throats to the surprise finish makes one of the entertaining films of the year.

Home-run hit starts today at the Capitol theatre.

Health Scheme Must Appeal, Says Douglas

SASKATOON, June 17.—(CP)—Premier T. C. Douglas of Saskatchewan yesterday told the Canadian Medical Association that any long-range prepaid health plan in Canada "must appeal to the vast majority of people who give service and the vast majority who receive it."

"The public wants to know if the scheme could pay for the service any way. A scheme must be devised to cover the whole population and it could be done only under municipal, provincial or federal government schemes. Only government schemes could be subsidized or collect costs at little expense."

"We want to ensure however that in getting that we don't throw out the baby with the bath water. There are good things we want to hold onto. The choice of doctor should always stay with the patient, he said. Doctors should not be cast in a mold.

The medical profession, however, could not stand still. The man-on-the-street longed for greater security and would not be denied. The answer did not lie with voluntary organizations which in the main had been able to look after only the middle class of Canadians.

Prairie Hopper Battles Raging

Three-Province Survey Shows Damage Being Held Down

WINNIPEG, June 17.—(CP)—Grasshoppers, the insects which yearly threaten to eat away grain grown on Canadian prairies, are being fought successfully by agriculture department officials and farmers in all three provinces, a survey today reveals.

All are using either chlordane or pocophone chemicals to combat the hoppers. Some damage has been reported, but officials say it is not extensive.

The hoppers are abundant on lighter soils where hatching was earlier. Hot weather in the last week in Manitoba also has given hoppers opportunity to hatch on heavier soils such as in the Red River valley.

SOME SACK DAMAGE

In Saskatchewan, chief area is centred by Saskatoon. Saskatchewan officials say some damage has been done, but that a large number of hoppers have been killed by chlordane, used both in bait and as a spray.

Manitoba started its fight against the insects two weeks ago and the situation is said to be fairly good. The strip of land bounded by Carman, Elm Creek, McGregor and Penumbra is the area particularly threatened.

Threatened spraying with chemicals is being done. A mixture of chlordane and five gallons of water covers an acre of land.

RAIN AIDS

In southwestern Manitoba the situation seems to be well under control. Officials say grain is well advanced and that rain which has fallen over the hopper areas has been helpful.

The rain, although not killing the hoppers, has kept grain growth coming along. Alberta has distributed 300 rail way cars of grasshopper bait, of which 40 sets have been used. Largest quantity was sent to the Medicine Hat area in the southwest.

Drumheller, in central Alberta and Provost, 170 miles south-east of Edmonton, near the Saskatchewan border.

A. M. Wilson, provincial field crops commissioner, says the situation in Alberta is under control.

General outlook of damage has been reported and none is expected.

Liquor Heads Elect Kennedy

BANFF, Alta., June 17.—(CP)—W. F. Kennedy, chairman of the British Columbia Liquor Board, today was re-elected president of the Canadian Association of Liquor Commissioners.

Annual convention of provincial liquor boards attended for the first time by a Newfoundland representative, ended here today. Newfoundland representative is D. J. French.

CLOSED SESSIONS
Entire business sessions of the commissioners were held behind closed doors. Topics discussed included B.C.'s new liquor educational program and problems arising out of administration of liquor control legislation in several Canadian provinces. Officials, however, would issue no statement following the convention on any decisions reached by the meeting or on the trend of discussions.

W. R. Clubb, chairman of Manitoba Liquor Commission and A. S. Mahon, chairman of Nova Scotia Liquor Commission, were elected vice-presidents of the association, and N. A. Verter, Manitoba Liquor Commission, was named secretary.

TWO NOT REPRESENTED
Others in attendance included E. Rivers, Quebec; Hon. Col. G. A. Welch, Ontario; J. Anderson, Sask.; Col. W. C. Lawson, New Brunswick; and A. J. Mason, Alberta.

Prince Edward Island and the North West Territories were not represented. Official delegates from the association of Canadian distillers and Canadian Wine Association and Canadian Wine Institute presented briefs for consideration.

Up the Pole With 'Chuck' Lupica

Oh give a look at 'Chuck' Lupica. He's not from here, nor yet Topeka. Sitting on his flagpole atop the waiting for the braves to pop.

Latest communique from Cleveland gives out with the news that Charley Lupica, demon fan (?) who has embarked on a one-man 'wildcat' strike, also a 26-foot perch, is beyond even the arm of the law in this situation.

Seems the head of Cleveland's sanitation police was all for bringing Lupica back to earth, even if two or three strongarms had to be sent up after him. The man from city hall is far from being in love with Lupica's avowed intention of staying put until Lou Boudreau's Indians climb into first place in the American league race.

Specifically the sanitation head expressed considerable distaste for the rope-and-bucket sanitary facilities being used by the baseball-wacky gent on the other end of the flagpole.

"Too much like canal boat days," the city official beamed. Likewise he claimed that Lupica was "camping" in downtown Cleveland without benefit of a license.

However, though they thumbed ordinances to a far-thewell city lawyers, after it was ruled that Lupica wasn't camping ("his perch isn't a hut, tent or barracks"), could find no reason for laying a charge.

So Lupica will continue (he says) his flagpole vigil until the stumbling world champions get back atop the league. Ah, democracy!

Idea-Man Larry Hodgins

Larry Hodgins (a truly fine letter, Larry) is one of the city's keenest baseball fans. What's more his yen for the game is expressed in frequent visits to Renfrew Park.

In other words his is not a 'lip-service' type of interest. And Hodgins has come up with an idea, prompted in the first place by dissatisfaction he feels at the limited use made of the public address system at Renfrew.

"Why not make use of the P.A. system to tell the customers what goes on?" he asks. "I am aware that many of the fans are not able to interpret umpire decisions and rulings... leading to a lessened enjoyment of the game and to an increased lack of confidence in the umpire."

Petitioner Hodgins cites cases of hitters advanced first base because of interference by the catcher... base-runners sent back to a base... managers and players getting heated out of the game, as instances where the customers would get the dope via the P.A.

Even in cases where there's room for doubt as to which player has committed an error complainant Hodgins thinks the fans should be told. "Many like myself may be in the habit of scoring," he reasons.

Well... J. Ducey?

Enthusiasm and Misgivings

News that Jimmy Gibson again is in the managerial saddle with Sam Timmins' Calgary Buffaloes arouses mingled feelings of enthusiasm and misgivings.

Enthusiasm because Gibson is acknowledged to be one of the best baseball men ever to stick nose into the affairs of the Big Four. The Californian knows the game from A to Zee, can—and will—talk it on a 24-hour day basis with anyone who'll yak, yak along with him.

What's more he's good copy.

The misgivings stem from the fact that Gibson also showed a fine disdain for the feelings of the Renfrew Park faithful that night last summer when he petulantly waived Buhrs from the diamond because he didn't like the umpiring.

This cost him his managerial job in the first place.

It's to be hoped that Sam Rivin, successor to Henry Roche as president of the inter-city loop, has made it his business to call in Gibson and warn him against a repetition of his high-handed action on that other occasion.

For our part we think Mr. Gibson exceedingly lucky to have won a parole from the Timmins' doghouse in this short order.

LET'S GO, CLEVELAND! Charles Lupica was threatened with arrest if he didn't come down off the four-by-four platform atop his drugstore. Then the city sanitary police decided to permit the 37-year-old Cleveland fan to remain on top of the 16-foot post until the Indians reach first place. The Tribe currently is running third, six and one-half games off the pace.

Lapointe 'Goat' As Anavets Win

Hits and errors plus the odd walk usually tell the story of a football game but last night at Kingsway park it was the balls that RCAP catcher Lapointe let pass that fashioned the tale.

All came about in the first inning of the Senior Men's league All Force-Anavet game, won by Vets 2-1, after the boys in blue had come up with a single tally in their half of the frame.

MERRY-GO-ROUND
Anavet lead-off batter Mickey Checkinska walked, advanced to second on the first passed ball, held base when Joe Sereda was second on an error, advanced to third on a second passed ball and scored when Ray Ladonne skied out to center field. Meanwhile, Sereda stole second, went to third on the fly and crossed home plate when Lapointe led a third ball past.

Vets' other run came in the third frame when Sereda singled, went to second on an error and scored on Ladonne's double.

Ladonne's jumped on Lou McLary, newcomer to the Sparling-Davis mound staff, for five hits in the third inning of their game to pile up three runs. An error, a walk and a double followed by an outfield fly gave the then two more tallies in the next frame to wrap up the game.

The others came up with single runs in the first and third innings but never were able to get a heavy attack going.

TOP PROTECTION FOR BALL STARS WHILE ON JOB

CHICAGO, June 17.—(UP)—Major league baseball clubs furnish all possible types of protection for ball players at the park, but once away from the stadiums the players like Eddie Valenzuela who was victim of a tragic shooting are on their own. A United Press survey indicated today. Every major league team furnishes police protection to players leaving the park. Many teams have special parking lots to permit players to enter their cars and drive away without interference. All clubs refuse to furnish telephone numbers or home addresses to casual inquirers.

Edwards Powers Burns' Victory

Two homers, one coming with the bases loaded, by Edwards gave Burns a 2-16 victory over Taylor and Pearson in an Intermediate Meets A football league tilt last night. Edwards socked his first round-tripper in the fourth, and then cleaned the sacks with a mighty blow in the eighth. Burns and Pearson, who had been playing in the fourth, and then cleaned the sacks with a mighty blow in the eighth. STRADDLING THE BOWSPRIT, a crewman helps to trim the boat as the yawl heads upwind in the Richmond, Calif., regatta. Of more than 150 boats competing, 40 crossed the finish in a phalanx, giving judges a rough time, and making the result more guess than fact.

Manager 'Drives' EAC's to Victory

Manager Budd Williamson cursed and coddled his EAC baseball team for seven chilly innings at South Side Athletic Grounds last night. And it paid off: EAC edged the league-leading South Side Athletics 7-6 in an abbreviated junior baseball game.

It was a sweet win for Williamson's gang, who, up till now, have been waging a hand-to-hand battle with Canadians for last place in the junior league. For one thing, it was the first time in two years that EAC's have beaten the A's. And it meant the second time in as many games that the chatty South Siders have tasted defeat.

EAC didn't have it easy. They scored two runs in the first inning but saw that margin erased when South Side came back with two in the second. And things looked black for the Clubmen when the A's scored twice in the third to make a 4-2 lead. But in the fifth the underdog EAC's hit like they haven't hit before this season. When the shelling was over, Wally Laubman, Ben Cherski, George McVey, Gordon Pearson, Pat West, and Bob Hawkins had smacked singles through the infield and four runs were in. McVey, Pearson, and Laubman repeated in the seventh frame to score another run and EAC led 7-4.

THE A's came snarling back in their last turn at bat with Don Wynn leading a two-run homer beyond the outermost picket lines in centerfield. Johnny Clark followed Wynn with a single and, with nobody out, was caught attempting to steal second. Relief pitcher West dashed South Side back by striking out Doug

Coldwell Seeks Probe Into Banking Setups

Investigation of six banks and 22 investment firms was demanded by CCF leader M. J. Coldwell here last night.

Meat Packers Say Industry Being Stymied

Alberta's cattle industry is being stymied by Canada's present railway freight rates. Instead of being processed in the province, cattle are shipped out live and processed in Winnipeg, Regina or U.S. packing plants.

Thus meat packing is effectively discouraged in Alberta. Calgary's L. made this case to the Royal Commission on Transportation this morning, as it opened second day of hearings here. The company asks revivification of export of processed meat products from Alberta, which they argue will encourage establishment of a meat packing industry here.

Yesterday, Prof. Andrew Stewart, head of the department of political economy at University of Alberta, advanced development of natural resources as a means of bolstering national economy and contributing to welfare of railways through greater volume of traffic. He testified as an Alberta government witness.

SOLVE PROBLEMS
A larger measure of reciprocity between Canada and United States was also advocated by Prof. Stewart. Economic integration of the two countries would solve some problems of the west. It would open a flow of north-west traffic without damaging eastern Canada through interference with the traditional flow of east-west traffic.

He would not suggest that Alberta should have been part of the United States, but had things turned out that way, the province would have a more balanced structure. Export of Alberta's natural gas to the U.S. might be used as a bargaining weapon to gain economic advantages, he said.

BIG POTENTIAL
"If we are going to export our gas, it would be wise policy to use it to gain concessions." At another point, Prof. Stewart said that while Alberta's agricultural land has been exploited and deteriorated under historic national policies, the province has in its coal, petroleum and natural gas an enormous potential which has hardly yet been scratched.

"We admit that, with adoption of bold and far-sighted policies of national development, these resources can be made to contribute beneficially to transportation agencies and to the country as a whole."

Better rates on lumber exports from Alberta were called for in a brief presented by Alberta Forest Products Association.

Home Market Is Urged For Seed Growers Here

Canadian seed producers should pay more attention to home markets, J. W. Mackay, chief of seed production for Dominion Agriculture department, told annual meeting of Canadian Seed Growers' Association here yesterday.

Because the export market has been "extremely active" in recent years, trade generally has underestimated the domestic market. "The day may not be far off when a greater appreciation of domestic market may be necessary as a means of absorbing surplus quantities of storage seed crops," said Mr. Mackay.

SUGGESTS PLAN
He suggested a "co-ordinated plan to encourage competent growers to produce, maintain and multiply foundation seed stocks to the required levels of production."

This plan, he added, should be coupled with intensive educational promotional campaign to sell growers on the advantages of developing farm use to fullest extent possible.

"We cannot expect present level of export to continue indefinitely," explained Mr. Mackay. "But continuity of supply, together with proper regard for quality in desirable varieties and strains, will do much to maintain Canada's high reputation in the world's greatest markets."

The seed export said Canada has become self-sufficient in domestic requirements, stating that in last five years a "surplus" export trade has been built up.

Convention will wind up its three-day stay in Edmonton today.

Quick Freeze Tests Give Berry Results

Dominion Experimental Station
Busy Testing Varieties of Berries

Individual quick-freeze lockers are a comparatively new deal in the local food preservation field. The Dominion experimental station at Beaveridge is busy testing varieties of rhubarb, raspberries, Saskatoons, and combinations of the three.

These are the interesting results:

Ten varieties of rhubarb were tested. The products retained the fresh and pleasing quality of the new-cut plant. Stalks were cut into one-inch lengths and processed in dry pack with sugar.

The rhubarb could be used as a sliced fruit, or as pie filler in most varieties.

The quick-freeze properties will handle the fruit. All the individual must do is buy the fruit and have it taken to the lockers.

SASKATOONS DISAPPOINTING

Saskatoons were mixed with rhubarb with a disappointing result. The mild and pleasant flavor of the Saskatoons was lost, while the remaining woody flavor, combined with the acidity and astringency of the rhubarb produced a disagreeable combination. Seeds and skin of the Saskatoon were tough when cooked while the rhubarb softened readily.

RASPBERRY RESULTS GOOD

One black and six red varieties of raspberries were tested with gratifying results. The fruit was treated as whole berries in syrup and in dry pack with sugar.

In dry pack the berries held shape well and retained light appearance. The syrup tests were not quite as favorable with the berries breaking, rather seedy and a slightly acid flavor.

Women Obligated To Election Interest

Women Candidates Have Come Far On Canuck Political Highway

OTTAWA, June 17.—(CP)—Women have come a long way along Canada's political highway since that day nearly 26 years ago when Jean Denison joined the Progressive Conservative party.

Smiling, brown-eyed Miss Denison, executive secretary of the party, is in the thick of her fifth Dominion election campaign. In her small second-storey office in the Progressive conservative national headquarters in downtown Ottawa, she now is working day and night.

Her job deals with much of the important internal workings of the party. In addition, she acts as liaison between headquarters and Miss Denison of Vancouver, director of Progressive Conservative women's organizations.

Miss Denison is most enthusiastic about the keen interest Canadian women are taking in the coming election. She said Progressive Conservatives have more women running as candidates in this political campaign than ever before.

WOMEN'S RESPONSIBILITIES
"Women have come a long way in the realization of their own personal responsibilities in securing and maintaining good government," she said in an interview. "And they are more and more coming to realize that like every other citizen in life their right to it must be earned, and that right is not earned by sitting down and waiting for something to happen."

Miss Denison has at her fingertips stores of information about election campaigns which also picked up in 1925, 1929, 1940 and 1945.

She missed the 1930 election because at that time she was private secretary to the late Premier Sir J. T. McCreery, who died in 1930.

She arrived back in the capital in time for the shooting in 1930, but missed the campaign.

Much of Miss Denison's off-duty time is spent in the book-keeping of her small farm just outside of Ottawa. Gardening is the favorite of her many hobbies, and she takes a special pride in her collection of roses.

She is also "very fond" of music, and confessed that she "used to do some singing," which she still manages to keep up "just for the fun of it."

Auxiliary Plans To Have Booth At Exhibition

Booth at the exhibition will be manned by members of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Canadian Legion, Women's Group Branch 24. This was decided at a recent meeting.

Proceeds will be for social service work. Booth will be supervised by Mrs. G. Coward and Mrs. A. G. Goodwin. The work includes sending parcels to England and visiting and entertaining at hospitals for veterans.

Mrs. A. G. Goodwin read letters of thanks from those who had received assistance and gave a talk on "Bearing Each Other's Burden."

Next general meeting will be held the fourth Wednesday in the month at the Memorial Hall at 8 p.m.

Woe Is We Women If Beauty Aids Disappear

NEW YORK, June 17.—(AP)—Think of women facing life with their own faces and figures—but without any of the devices now used to hold them up or in. How would our civilization, as we know it, react to the sudden removal of all beauty aids?

Women would suddenly pale. The great American beauty industry, which employs many millions of women, would be at a loss to know what to do.

At least 2,000,000 beauty aids would be sold each year. The average female abdomen would slip two inches and the back of the leg would jut out four or five more inches.

That is the prediction of the Corset and Brassiere Association. Every year American women spend an estimated $2,500,000,000 on their faces, hair and other items of interest.

They spend about $1,000,000,000 on 120,000 beauty shops, getting permanent waves, hair styling, manicures, pedicures, face masks, eyebrow dyes, eye lash dyes, hair dyes, to name but a few items.

Between 3,000,000 and 3,000,000 women, it is estimated, buy all or part of their hair. They use straightening, curling, waving, transformations, pedicures, manicures and other cosmetic treatments.

They spend more than $1,000,000,000 on perfumes and fragrances, dry and liquid powders, lipsticks, lotions, depilatories, cake makeup, eye makeup, hand beautifiers and innumerable creams.

In 1940, says the Corset and Brassiere Association, about 47,000,000 women spent $125,000,000 on their beauty aids. They bought about 1,000,000 corsets, girdles, and 1,000,000 bras.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS

Couples Should Save For Old Age Needs

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a man of 68. All of my life I have worked hard, but have never been able to save a cent. I have spent very little on myself, but my wife has never been able to deny herself anything she wanted, or to see the wisdom of saving for our old age.

In vain I have preached thrift to her and pleaded to her the horrors of a dependent old age, but she just laughed at me and went her way, living up to the last dollar of our income, and beyond it.

Through the years she has absolutely refused to co-operate with me in saving, and I was helpless to do it without her.

Now the fact that I have always dreamed of looking forward to that of a penniless old age, and I am racked with worry over what will befall me with my earning capacity is gone.

Can you write something that will make young wives see the necessity of putting something aside for the rainy day? It is bound to come to us all.

For it doesn't make any difference how much money her husband makes, it is what she spends that counts. It is useless for him to try to be economical if she is a wastrel.

ANSWER: To be sure, the public figures on an old man's pocket all of their lives and who, at the end, have nothing to show for their labor, haven't even saved up enough to enable them to slow down and take the last lap of the journey easily.

Wearily, spent, bent-double and men hugging themselves on to their daily grind like worn-out old dray horses.

No men in the world are more entitled to our sympathy than those who are cursed with wives who are spenders. A husband and wife must do teamwork if they are to get along in the world and save up any money.

No man, no matter how thrifty he is nor how he personally denies himself, can make any headway in mounting a savings bank account if he has a wife who is extravagant.

For, as the old proverb says, "a woman can throw more out of her back door with a teaspoon than a man can put in at the front door with a shovel."

For a man can nearly always get something to do up to the very end of his life that will make him some sort of living, but under Heaven there is no other creature so helpless and pitiable as the old woman who is penniless.

If spendthrift wives would only look into the future, they would catch every dollar tightly, and they would back their husbands up in saving for their old age.

Local Boy Makes Good Is Guy Connors' Story

By Don Flach
Bulletin Staff Reporter

From Viking, Alberta, to Saudi Arabia to Punta Arenas building pipelines is an old story to Guy S. Connors.

Just 24 years ago this month Guy went to work for the company that was Edmonton's first gas line from Viking to the city.

His first job was "material man" with the Williams Brothers Construction Company. Now he's general construction manager and vice-president of the same outfit.

From his first pipeline job, short, stocky Guy Connors, with his steady blue eyes, has progressed to the point where he boasts of his company's operational end: 12 flags and proceeds to name, "Lebanon, Syria, Trans-Jordan, Arabia, Iraq, Venezuela, Columbia, Panama, Mexico and Canada."

"How count them and see if I missed any," he adds with a smile.

Travelling in his private plane with pilot Robert Edding and co-pilot Robert McFarland, Mr. Connors is in the city to visit members of his family.

He makes his home here in Tulsa, Oklahoma.

"Like to get back here, to," he said, "because it's not hot."

While in the city he is also looking over the facilities of one of his company's subsidiaries, Dinkens Pipeline Construction Ltd., presently busy laying gathering lines in the Redwater oilfield.

PROSPECTS GOOD
Asked what he thought of the future for Alberta's oil industry, he modestly replied that he thought the province had "prospects of a very large oil field."

Regardless of his expressed opinion, Mr. Connors plans to be here in the development of the industry and help construct the pipelines that will carry the product, gas or oil, to markets on the Pacific coast or in the east.

During the war years, Mr. Connors said, his company was called on to speed the flow of crude in the war effort. One of the jobs was to construct a line from Pointe-à-la-Paix, Maine, to Montreal. This eliminated the necessity of ocean-going tankers running the gauntlet of the Gulf of St. Lawrence and also assured the wheels of Canada industry a year-round supply—even to radar.

COLDWELL QUIPS ABOUT ASHBY'S THINKING MODE

Hope that Edmonton East would have a member of parliament who will tell the House of Commons what the people of Alberta are thinking instead of what is in the minds of dogs, was expressed last night by M. J. Coldwell, national CCF leader.

"You've read Shakespeare, you know that every king must have a jester," he told an election meeting.

"Well, Alberta has sent us the jester."

Referring to Patrick Ashby, only CCF MP for Edmonton East in the last parliament and candidate in the June 27 election, Mr. Coldwell said "I am sure that he will miss him."

"He has in the Commons told us how to think like a dog and how to get his acrobats under difficult circumstances. I'm sure that the Commons will replace him and that instead of being told how the dogs are thinking we will be told how Alberta is thinking."

During the months when the St. Lawrence was closed by ice, Mr. Connors returned from Punta Arenas, at the very southern tip of South America where his company built a line for the Chilean government.

EVERYONE wanted to get in. When two men who had been waiting for a long time to see the photographer Sullivan, ready to snap pictures of three Bulletin Carriers getting acquainted with a BIG part of Daley Brothers Circus they wandered over too. From left carriers are, Bob Van Kleeck, Sturgeon Bell and Ed Gustke. They, along with more than 150 other Bulletin Carrier salesmen will take in Circus tonight as result of special offer put on by Circulation Department of paper.

Don Taylor Heads Alta. Postmasters 21st Annual Convention Ends With Gala Party

Running mates in the Alberta Postmasters' Association for 11 years, president Don Taylor of Vermilion and vice-president A. Poulsen of Delburne were returned to office yesterday.

Met Quigley, Three Hills will commence his fourth term as secretary-treasurer and H. Morgan of Delburne his 22nd year as member of the executive.

Ted Prine, Viking and E. Marshall, Custer are new members of the executive.

At closing session of the 21st annual convention held yesterday H. Morgan, one of the original members, traced the growth of the association since its inception 21 years ago. First meeting of the provincial organization was attended by 12 members in a bedroom at the Fuller hotel.

Now at 750
Today membership stands at 750.

Jack Watson, public relations officer, Edmonton, told the convention of the co-operation that exists between business men and the post office.

Methods used to promote correct mailing included addresses to service clubs, movies and lectures to school children and tours through the post office in Edmonton.

Several resolutions were passed at the morning session. They included a request for rural routes to be allowed, J. J. holidays allowed post offices, that postmasters in specified offices be granted leave of absence and sick leave, that experienced post office clerks in groups 3-5 be paid not less than $5.00.

One resolution asked that offices under $3,000 revenue be reviewed and, where considered a full-time position, the postmaster be paid accordingly and be eligible for superannuation.

Lou Wojcik, Regina, department manager of Simpson's, was chairman.

Body Mechanics Have 'Beef' on Government

By John McLean
Bulletin Staff Reporter

The osteopaths of Alberta—there are only two of them—are convinced they have been given a raw deal.

Spokesman for the province's pair of "body mechanics"—Dr. R. Hayhoe of Edmonton—said yesterday an injunction has been denied osteopathy.

"We are not provided with access to our hospitals. If they were to put an osteopath on a hospital staff, that hospital would immediately lose its standing. That's how unfair the situation is in Alberta."

LITTLE WONDER
And Dr. Hayhoe added: "No wonder there are only two of us left in the whole province."

Alberta's other practicing "body mechanic" is Dr. C. C. Braden, also of Edmonton.

In presenting his case for his profession, Dr. Hayhoe pointed out that "osteopathy is giving a service which is not rendered by the medical school by specializing in joint manipulation."

He blames the dominion government for his plight. "There is no dominion osteopath in Alberta. There is no earthly use in taking the Alberta board, for it limits your practice to this province alone."

The doctor explained that up until a few years ago there were quite a few osteopaths in Alberta. "But they've gone back to the States," he said. "And you can't blame them. There are no privileges open to them here."

He feels—and Dr. Braden shares his opinion—that osteopaths should have their own dominion board. He put it this way:

"The medical, dental, lawyers and all other professions, including chiropractors, have their own boards. We have not, and we shouldn't."

Already Dr. Hayhoe's patients are wondering what he'll do when he retires. "Pretty soon," he said, "there won't be an osteopath in Alberta if something isn't done about it."

B.C. Cabinet Changes Hold Spotlight

VANCOUVER, June 17.—(CP)—Possible cabinet changes and plans for industrial development in British Columbia might attract attention on the coalition government's election victory.

The electoral Wednesday rejected socialism, defeating a CCF third-time bid for power, and gave the coalition government of Premier Byron Johnson 46 seats of 48 in the legislature. It had 16 in the last house.

The CCF official opposition since 1941 when the coalition of Liberals and Progressives was formed, elected only six members. In the last house, it had 11.

OCF leader Harold E. Winch and his father, E. R. Winch, member of the legislature since 1935, were re-elected. The party whip, Herbert Gagnier, was defeated.

There may be some cabinet changes, political observers reported.

Andrew Whittier, elected in Cowichan-Newcastle, may be appointed labor minister, a post now held by Attorney-General Gordon S. Winner.

Another change may see the appointment of Leigh P. Stevenson re-elected in Vancouver-Point Grey, to the post of provincial secretary. The position now is held by Welfare Minister G. S. Pearson.

AGRICULTURE POST OPEN
With retirement of Frank Putnam, former minister of agriculture, a successor for his post may be chosen from one of the government supporters in the Okanagan or the Kootenays. As a member for Nelson-Creston riding he represented the interior in the cabinet.

The coalition force, which had 23 Liberals and 15 Progressive Conservatives at present, now stands unofficially at 23 Liberals, 14 Conservatives and three straight coalitionists. The trio had no previous party affiliation.

The lone independent elected, James Mowat, in Alberni was a coalition member in the last house. Other members elected in Thomas Uphill, veteran labor member from Fernie.

Supposed C-Grade Health Of Canucks Said Untrue

SASKATON, June 17.—(CP)—Canada's youth is not "down at the heels," nor is the dominion a C-3 nation politically, the Canadian Medical Association was told today.

Surgeon Captain Archie McCallum, medical director general of the Royal Canadian Navy, said "a bad piece of propaganda has been allowed to prevail" for nearly 10 years.

Early in the Second World War reports were published saying 46 per cent of armed forces inductees were unfit for category "A." Since that time the impression has spread that young Canadians "have gone to the dogs physically," Capt. McCallum said.

UNJUSTIFIED UNEASINESS
Because rejection statistics were not adequately interpreted they had left "a feeling of uneasiness throughout the country which is unjustified," he said.

Many of the defects for which armed forces candidates were rejected were not related to health or longevity.

"A man could live forever if he had only flat feet," he said. "Many defects were remediable, like hernia, hemorrhoids and varicose veins, which were correctable by surgery."

There were other causes for what appeared an abnormally high rejection rate. "One of the reasons was a lack of medical officers to make a proper appraisal," the naval surgeon said.

OUT-DATED REGULATIONS
Many doctors stuck strictly to regulations governing physical standards, and had preconceived ideas that regulations were inflexible. The regulations had not been brought up to date since the First World War, and the defense department had expected that doctors would use reasonable judgment in interpreting them.

Some doctors stuck closely to regulations because of a "penion consciousness." It seemed to the view that certain disabilities would become aggravated and become pensionable. So they rejected freely.

TREASURY WATCHDOGS
"Doctors seemed to think they were watchdogs of the treasury," he said.

The heavy rejection for emotional instability may not have reflected a person's ability to measure up to his responsibility in time of national crisis.

"It might have been that some of those emotionally unstable would have found themselves under military training."

Union Calls Radio Station After FDR
NEW YORK, June 17.—(AP)—The Ladies' Garment Workers Union (LAWU) last night opened its third radio station and named it WFDK in memory of the late President Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

The president's widow and Mayor William O'Dwyer took part in an inaugural broadcast.

Scientists have discovered that the age of a fish can be determined by counting its scales.

Police Block Highway As Gas Tanker Upsets

By KEN LIDDELL, Provincial Editor

WETASKIWIN, June 17.—Mounties set up a blockade Thursday to prevent possible explosion on a highway saturated by 1,000 gallons of gasoline.

The gas spilled from a tanker upset at a bridge site near Wetaskiwin, 10 miles east of Wetaskiwin on 23 highway.

Lloyd Yates, driver for Edmonton Oil Transport, escaped injury when the right rear dual wheels struck a sloping girder of bridge and upset tanker.

ROAD HOG CAUSE
The tanker carried 2,500 gallons of gasoline and about half of it spilled. Gasoline literally poured from one wheel before Yates plunged it with a block of wood. It then seeped from leaked seams.

Mounties blocked road and diverted traffic to detours to prevent possibility of exhaust or spark igniting flying gravel creating fire or explosion.

Yates approached the bridge from a long hill. As he neared it a truck going in opposite direction crossed the bridge and left him with little room.

Values in the Himalayas mountain live at an altitude of 24,000 feet where the air pressure is only 54 pounds per square inch.

Big 4 Deadlocked By Berlin Dispute

Russ Refusal to Grant Full Access to City is Reason

By R. H. Shackford

PARIS, June 17.—(UP)—A Russian refusal to guarantee the western powers unqualified access to Berlin is the major point of deadlock in the Big Four council of foreign ministers, it was learned today.

Authoritative sources said Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky in a statement issued today to the press agreed which would allow Russia to reimpose the Berlin blockade.

The west was as insistent that any agreement reached here must include Soviet acknowledgment of the west's right to be and stay in Berlin, and guarantee that the blockade never will be imposed again.

Informants said the western proposal now under study called for Soviet acknowledgment of the right of the west to normal use of railways, highways and canals between Berlin and the west.

ONLY PROMISE
The only promise Vishinsky was willing to make was that normal use of such communications would be "facilitated for the purpose of promoting trade." That was interpreted to mean that any line Russia thought western use of the communications was not facilitating the Soviets could stop the traffic.

After a session running beyond midnight, the foreign ministers recessed until Sunday. They decided to end their conference Monday whether or not an agreement is reached.

British Lumber Deal May Gross $30 Million

OTTAWA, June 17.—(CP)—Canada expects to sell dollar-short United Kingdom at least $30,000,000 worth of lumber this year—and perhaps more if the U.K. can get Marshall aid approval.

A trade official said today Anglo-Canadian lumber contracts completed for 1949 call for shipment of 325,000,000 board feet from the west coast at an approximate cost of $22,000,000.

This is in addition to the 130,000,000 board feet of spruce, valued at $8,000,000, eastern Canadian mills will supply.

EXPECT NEW CONTRACT

This is for Britain's supply of Douglas fir for the last quarter of 1949. Because of a "distressed" lumber area showing up in the west coast, the U.S. Canada is not certain to get the complete contract.

Under U.S. Economic Co-operation Administration regulations the U.K. can buy the lumber in Canada at prices competitive with prices in other countries, including the U.S.

With a surplus developing in the western states, there is the possibility that Canada will have to share the quarterly contract with U.S. mills.

CUT CANADIAN DEAL

This also was the reason Canada obtained only $6,000,000 worth of the $10,000,000 B.C.A. lumber allocation to the U.K. for the third quarter of 1949. U.S. mills got the other $4,000,000.

The third quarter contract was placed with British Columbia mills a few days ago. For the $6,000,000 the U.K. will get about $6,000,000 board feet, shipments to start at the beginning of July.

English Woman Wants Job With West Horses

CALGARY, June 17.—(CP)—A petite, tweed-clad English woman stepped off a train at Calgary today, a little upset about the stories that she wants to be a cowponcher.

U.S. Border Crossings Up

OTTAWA, June 17.—(CP)—Traffic at international border points was 14 per cent heavier in April than in the same month last year, mainly because of returning Canadian traffic, the bureau of Statistics reported today.

During the month, the number of Canadian vehicles returning to Canada increased by 40 per cent while United States traffic entering Canada increased five per cent.

The report said the comparison between April this year and last year was influenced by the fact Easter was in April this year and Easter last year. Comparing March and April traffic together, the report showed that the two months there was a 10 per cent increase in the total traffic across the border, with U.S. vehicles increasing two per cent and Canadian vehicles 34 per cent.

Aggregate number of border crossings in April was 613,000, consisting of 415,000 foreign entries and 198,000 Canadian vehicles returning. The Canadian traffic comprised 22,100 in days of the week abroad for more than 24 hours, 100,000 staying for shorter periods and 14,900 commercial vehicles.

Cumulative totals for the four months place highway traffic returning at 1,801,000 compared with 1,732,500 in the similar period of year ago, an advance of 10 per cent.

More Juveniles Nabbed At Peg

WINNIPEG, June 17.—(CP)—Three juveniles arrested by police this week brought to 23 the number of youths apprehended within the last 10 days in connection with a police drive to clean up juvenile delinquency in the city.

All terms of 30 months and one year were dealt out for yesterday, day to two youths charged with automobile theft.

Inquest Finds Driver Drunk

CALGARY, June 17.—(CP)—Inquest into the death of three young men, killed when a car plunged off the Macleod highway, about one mile north of Okotoks, Alta., last May 15, was held here today by Coroner Dr. A. E. Ardill of Okotoks.

After hearing testimony of Andrew Chisholm, the only man who escaped alive from the flaming wreck, the jury found Arthur Stewart, 25, and Bert Trout, 20, died as the result of shock and third degree burns suffered while they were passengers in a car driven by Fred McManmond.

The jury said evidence showed McManmond was in an intoxicated condition and driving in a reckless manner.

Cause of McManmond death was also given as shock and third degree burns.

Taxes Could Be Shaved But It's Too Late Now

ment said it was probable union members could have made slight savings. They could have deducted their union dues when figuring out income taxes during those years.

Their opinion followed a ruling of Mr. Justice E. R. Angers of the Exchequer Court. He said that Joseph A. Cooper, a Winnipeg professional, was entitled to deduct $25 in union dues when calculating his 1945 taxable income.

The decision threw some members of the department into a furor yesterday. They feared that hundreds of thousands of tax return might be opened. But others pointed out that once an income tax is settled, it cannot be reopened. The department's position is that the 1945 to 1947 acts did not expressly exclude union members from deducting union dues from their taxable income. The department said it had not allowed the union members to make the deductions.

Cooper fought the department, and he won. There were also a few other union members whose tax claims are not yet settled for those years. They can make the deductions.

The general principle now was that professional men working on their own could deduct dues paid to their societies. This payment of dues is the only way they can practice their professions. But professional men on salary, and all others on salary and salary may not.

The law income tax acts are definite on that division, the department said. It expected no further union cases like the Cooper one.
